

Imagine the rain in April washed away colors—what would the world look like?

Write a story about an umbrella that talks and takes you on adventures.

What would happen if every April storm made animals swap places?

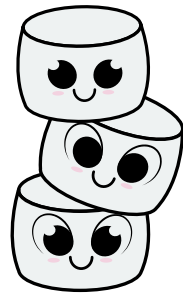

Write about a silly garden that grows shoes, hats, and toys instead of plants.

Imagine you discover a secret door under a puddle—where does it lead?

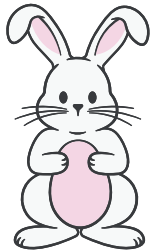

Write a story about clouds that change into animals and come alive.

What would happen if April showers rained marshmallows instead of water?

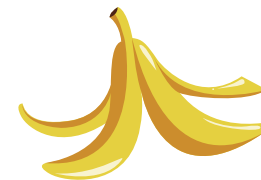

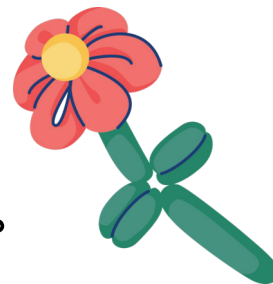

Write about a rabbit who gets lost on Easter morning.

Imagine you are the Easter Bunny's helper—what job would you have?

Write a story about Earth Day where the trees start talking to humans.

What would happen if every flower bloomed into balloons instead of petals?

Imagine you are in charge of April Fool's Day—what prank would you create?